Planning for the Future

As the old saying goes, there is nothing sure in life but Death and Taxes. When our life comes to a close how do you want to be remembered?

Most of today's Funeral service providers are using technology like DVD presentations to do a pre-service tribute while family and friends are coming in to pay their last respects to our life.

But while they do a great job of providing a smooth transition of procedures to help us with all the details, we know the cost of most funeral services have climbed considerably. A pre-service DVD presentation provided by a Funeral Home costs on average between $300-400 with an average of 20-30 pictures allowed to be used and limited choices of music to portray our life story. DVD duplication fees range on average of between $25-30 for additional copies.
